The Directorate of Education and the State Council of Educational Research & Training have been working side by side for quite some time. Both of them work for imparting the best education through the best tools.

And hence the idea of putting up a collective picture of their common vision, culture and perspective. So, all welcomed it when the idea of bringing out a joint newsletter was floated. Officers in the sister concerns hailed the proposition and immediately started working upon developing it. And the result is this beautiful newsletter which you are holding in your hands today.

The newsletter is primarily for the benefit of teachers. They can share their innovations, ideas and good teaching practices. This is a first of its kind initiative and I am sure, this plant will grow into a strong tree and become an indispensable part of the work culture of the Directorate as well as SCERT.

I congratulate all my colleagues who have accepted this suggestion and converted it into a beautiful reality.

This newsletter is a unique attempt to document and share the various activities and initiatives undertaken by SCERT and the Directorate of Education, Delhi. It also provides the opportunity to help keep everyone informed of recent news and developments within and about the two organizations working prominently in the field of Education.

The year 2013-14 marks another significant milestone in the annals of our department as there have been tremendous interventions in the Education sector in recent years such as the CCE, RTE to name a few. We are conscious of the fact that as the State Academic Authority, new challenges and horizons lie ahead of us. We have strived to constantly improve our paradigm of education in such a way that it is in consonance with the need of the 21st century.

Our emphasis has always been to develop robust foundation for our children to help them develop their creative talents and inculcate in them moral values. Focus is also to improve and enhance the quality and standards of Teacher Education and Training in all respects to enable the students to learn in a joyful and meaningful way.

The Newsletter is a mirror of how effectively our institutions are working in areas of academics, training and research. Notable achievements by our students, teachers and teacher educators and faculty members have been highlighted.

I felicitate the team members who have put this newsletter together and also the team of editors and publishers who have given its present shape.

We welcome your inputs and valuable suggestions for further improvement and urge you to stay connected with us through e-mail or by visiting us whenever possible.

Best Wishes and Regards,

Anita Satia

Universalization in Teacher Education

Dr. Namrata Dhiman
Project Director, YUVA, SCERT

In knowledge based economy that puts a premium on creativity, innovation and collaboration, one of the most important 21st century skills students need is global competence. It is now a prerequisite for success in a world that demands scientific and technological literacy as well as cross – cultural leadership.

In today's hyper connected world, no nation can launch a fully effective domestic teacher education agenda, without also addressing universal needs and trends, and nurturing a globally competent citizenry.

Globally oriented school/classroom is one that creates a universal vision and culture, recruits and prepares Universally - oriented teachers, transforms curriculum and instruction by international content, emphasizes language proficiency and international service – learning.

Teacher education programs are greatly enhanced and more relevant for today's world when international/global dimensions are included in program and curricular design and implementation.

It is integral to the fabric of a program and produces teachers who are universally competent and who can help their students to be universally competent in turn. It supports and enhances student achievement across all content areas, at all levels.

The strategy of building universal competence among teachers is foundational to universalizing teacher – education programmes.

For this, raising awareness of the demands of universally competent teaching is critical. In which, knowledge will be created and co-created and not simply “imparted by teachers”

Universalization is generally seen to have two major components.

“Universalization at home”:

It emphasizes domestic students and faculty, curriculum, research, extra – curricular activities and liaison with local culture and ethnic groups.

It includes dealing with the implications of cross – border education, especially the integration of international scholars into campus life, teaching and research.

“Education abroad or across borders”.

It includes development project-based learning, institutional – level academic exchange programme and partner with other international organization.

“The sage on the stage” phenomenon is fast disappearing.

We must first understand the term “Universalization”

Universalization of Teacher Education :

For Universalization of teacher education, the following approaches need to be considered:

- 1. Study Abroad : It provides opportunity to the learners to gain insight into cultural, historical and political practices of various countries
- 2. Comparative Education : This approach focuses on accessing, reading, analyzing and responding to model practices and strategies of other countries, and subsequently using them to improve one's own practice.
- 3. Global Studies : This is focused on increasing teacher educator knowledge and the ability to teach global dimensions of content area . It also aims to increase the knowledge

Teacher - Educator Preparation Programmes/Challenges

- Explore teacher educator preparation programme to further in line with universalization initiatives and acquire ideas, strategies and expert advice.
- Collectively determine priorities in curricular transformation and set a timeline for change
- Inspire faculty commitment to internationalization, and encourage, facilitate and reward faculty growth in universal awareness and cross – culture theory and skill.
- Develop and follow through with a plan for co-ordination of international initiatives across the programme in collaboration with other related units in campus
- Budget necessary resources for curricular and co-curricular transformation and professional development
- Develop and implement a plan for assessment of outcomes of new programs and courses.
- Articulate ways that universal competence fits into existing state and national standards and programmes.
- Learn about existing technology to determine how it might be used to create or enhance international, cross – cultural learning, and partnership opportunities.
- Facilitate cross – cultural learning among teacher educator with international counterparts, to help build knowledge and appreciation of others cultures.

In the present scenario teacher education should consider the following:

- knowledge should not be treated as ‘given’, embedded in the curriculum and accepted without question; rather it is constructed by the student
- Curriculum, syllabi and textbooks should be critically examined by the student and teacher.
- Language proficiency of the teacher needs to be enhanced, and existing programmes must recognize the centrality of language in the curriculum.
- Teacher education programmes should provide scope for student teachers to reflect on their experiences.
- Disciplinary knowledge should not be viewed as independent of professional training in pedagogy.
- Opportunity should be provided for teachers to examine their own biases and reflect on their own experiences as part of classroom discourse and enquiry.
- Theory courses should have clear link with practical work and ground realities.
- The evaluation system followed in teacher education programmes should not be too information-oriented, rather qualitative and comprehensive.
- Apart from conceptual and pedagogical aspects, existing programmes need to develop certain attitudes, dispositions, habits and interests in a teacher. The present evaluation protocol should have place for evaluating these aspects

YUVA Activities

YUVA Activities

This project was introduced as a collaboration between Directorate of Education (DoE) and SCERT, Delhi. This project (YUVA) is headed by a Project Director (PD, YUVA). Presently, it is being headed by Dr. Namrata Dhiman, who has been associated with this project since its inception in the year 2006.

Objectives of YUVA

The main objective of Project YUVA, when it started was to develop among students the following skills, which we call YUVA SKILLS:

- Understand and Develop among students and teachers LIFE SKILLS
- Enable students overcome difficult situations on their own.
- Empower all the teachers by affirming and validating their capabilities.
- Make learning joyful, interesting and meaningful.

Issues in Education Sector

In today's world the adolescent issues, specially the growing up issues are of great concern. In addition, substance abuse, sexual exploitation, anger and frustration are growing among the adolescents every day which is evident in newspaper coverage every day. The whole enterprise of education is extricably linked with the integrated development of the child. Devoid of the potential to nurture development of child, education loses its heart and soul. No one who attempts to depict the spirit of age in which we live can possibly overlook the importance of education for all round development. The malleable years of youth in schools are crucial. Responding to this urgent need, YUVA Cell has already taken many initiatives which articulates a comprehensive and pragmatic approach to deal with these issues in schools.

Recent Interventions

A. Value Education

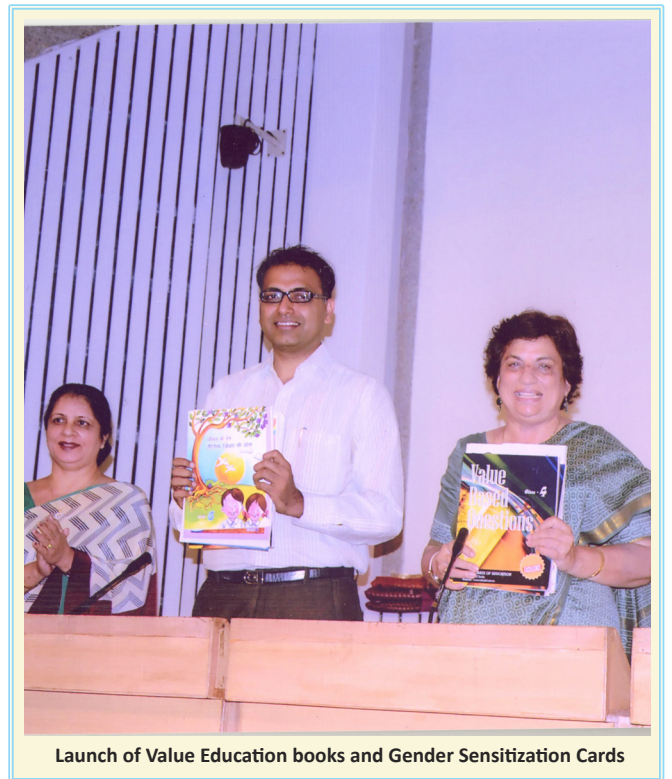

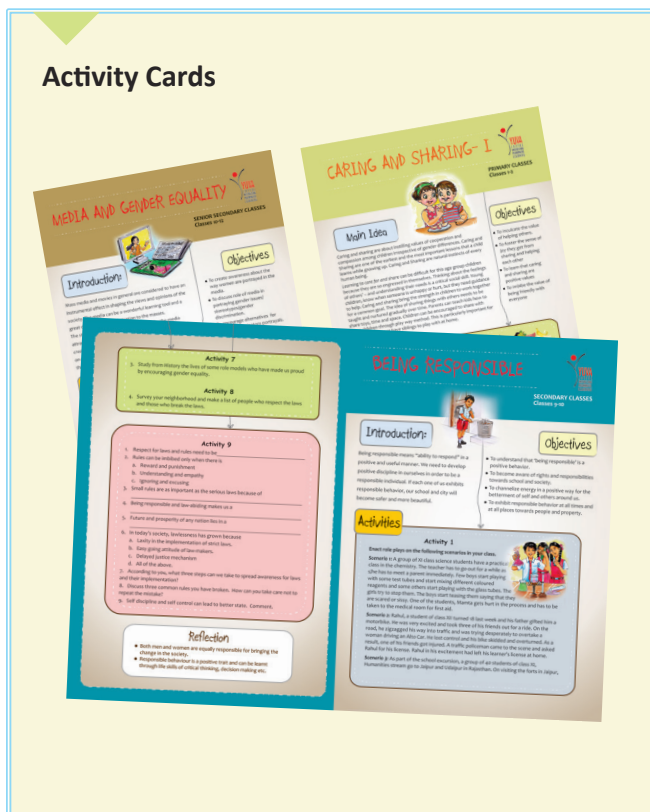

Value Education harmonises the need for the student to achieve in a competitive world and also to be compassionate to fellow beings. It does not involve any cognitive abilities that can be trained, like poetry, it is 'caught' rather than taught. In the context of schools and school education, there are some key challenges particularly in contemporary social contexts that acquire the sense of urgency which need to be addressed to. In this behalf, a set of stories along with poems and activities in a book form have been developed on "Value Education" for classes 1st to 8th to begin with in Hindi and English medium under the flagship programme of YUVA by SCERT.

These books are an effort to familiarise the children and acquaint them once again with our national, cultural and social heritage through colourful stories, poems and activities which children enjoy.

B. Gender Sensitization through Value Education

Gender Sensitization is a very important component which aims to bring about a modification of the behaviour of teachers and parents to incorporate gender equality and equity in its true spirit. A set of 18 activity based cards on "Gender Sensitisation and Awareness" have been developed for classes I to XII under the Scheme YUVA by a team of members from various NGO's, DoE and SCERT.

C. Substance Abuse

In today's world, adolescent issues, especially all the growing up issues are of great concern. Increase in substance abuse, sexual exploitation, anger and frustration are growing among the adolescents. This can be seen in the newspaper coverage every day. To sensitize the people in general and the youth in particular, YUVA Cell is also working towards drugs sensitization programmes about drug abuse in schools or for out of school children.

A. Training Programmes

Some of the programmes conducted by the YUVA cell are as under:

- Orientation of Head of schools regarding YUVA School Life Skills Programme was conducted at Tyagraj stadium in which a complete interactive session on YUVA was taken by Ms. Anita Satia, Director SCERT and Dr. Namrata Dhiman, Project Director, YUVA. Dr. Namrata Dhiman started with the playing of song titled "Man Yuva" and it was heartening to mention that everybody got up from their seats and started singing and dancing.

Need of YUVA life skills for the students, teachers, and parents was emphasised. Dr. Namrata Dhiman oriented the Participants with the vision of YUVA Life skill i.e. All children in Delhi shall receive learning that helps them to be happy, healthy and productive citizens.

Also, concept and approaches of life skill education and why we need value education, its concerns and challenges, objectives of life skill with description of 10 core life skills were discussed in detail besides discussion of how to impart life skill education with tools and techniques of measuring life skills present in the students. It was resolved that supervision and monitoring of YUVA SLP will be done by HOS and teachers. Information on YUVA club, its objectives and activities was shared.

New booklet seeks to sensitise students on gender issues

VALUE EDUCATION Kit consists of 18 activity cards meant for students of class 1 to 12

HT Correspondent

hreporters@hindustantimes.com

NEW DELHI With gender sensitivity in schools being discussed the world over, the Delhi government and the State Council of Educational Research and Training (SCERT) have come out with a value education kit that includes age appropriate activity cards for students.

The text has been prepared by SCERT and the Delhi government in association with NGOs and teachers. The gender sensitivity booklet aims to tackle issues of gender stereotyping and violence head on.

The kit consists of 18 activity cards meant for students of Class 1 to 12. A card for primary students talks about the freedom to choose careers and appearances. The booklet asks students if nurses and farmers can be either women or men and if short hair is meant only for men.

The booklet for students in secondary classes (6 to 10) discusses gender-based violence and human rights. They also aim to change stereotypes portraying women as bad drivers and fit only to be homemakers. An exercise asks students to differentiate between

TO GET RID OF STEREOTYPING

- The booklet discusses the idea of creating a safety net of people they can approach in times of need in school, at home and the neighbourhood.
- The text tries to break the stereotype that links how a woman dresses to abuse by using examples and asking students to enact real life scenarios.
- A booklet for students in classes 9 and 10 addresses the issue of friendship between boys and girls and asks students to reflect upon interpersonal relationships.
- The same booklet also paints a picture where boys in a chemistry lab are playing with chemicals while the girls are shown as responsible, cementing the stereotype that girls usually behave well in class as compared to boys.
- A booklet for classes 6 to 10 talks about using gender neutral language, asks students to replace mankind with humankind and chairman with chairperson.

THE IMPACT OF GLOBALISATION AND TECHNOLOGICAL ADVANCEMENT HAS BEEN SUCH THAT OUR CHILD IS LOST. VALUES ARE DECLINING AND I HOPE THIS KIT WILL INCULCATE VALUES.

KIRAN WALIA, education minister activities dictated by gender and those dictated by society.

For example, the booklet for students of classes 8 to 10 asks them if a woman's ability to give birth is a sexual or a gender difference. The same booklet also asks them to categorize the statement that boys are athletic while girls like to stay home under sex or gender. The booklet was prepared by 52 teams and was released by Delhi education minister Kiran Walia on Thursday. "The impact of globalisation and technological advancement has been such that our child is lost. Values are declining every day and I hope that this kit will inculcate values among children," Walia said.

In an effort to sensitize children, the booklets tend to perpetuate some stereotypes; the most common being that of portraying women as conscientious and responsible and boys as rowdy and playful.

"These booklets are a laudable initiative to sensitize children and have come through after various discussions. Some activities could perpetuate stereotypes, but we have to remember that they are placed in a certain context that the students see around them. Most of the students who opt for science in class 11 are still boys. We need to use these booklets and then interpret the material according to our experience," said Ameeta Watal, principal, Springdales School, Pusa Road, who was part of the material production group.

Master training programme on Value education and gender sensitization

- A training programme of Educational and Vocational Guidance Counsellors on 17th Sep, 13 was organized at Delhi University in which experts from university of Delhi apprised the participants about various career opportunities and courses available for students after class XII. In addition, Dr. Nirmalaya, (Associate professor from University of Delhi) talked about the status of women in Indian society and how women are the equal part of this gendered society. Many participants shared their ideas and participated very enthusiastically.

Second day of the training was addressed by Sh. Jung Bhadur, Deputy Director of DoE who discussed about the changing pattern of societal beliefs and educational practices. A power point showing the concept of values, attitudes etc was shown to the participants. The ground realities and the real situation of present school education were discussed and the role of textbooks, teachers, school environment, and education system was also discussed in detail.

Dr. Namrata Dhiman took up Value based story books and discussed the importance of storytelling for value education. She empathized that in today global world, where we are a button away from each, other we should not only talk about national values but we sensitively inculcate international values for universal brotherhood and peace among our students.

- In addition, it is informed that in all the in-service teachers training programmes Two days are allotted to topics such as Life Skills, Gender Sensitisation, and Value Education.

B. Workshops organised

4. Education Technology

Development of Guidelines of ICT in Education for Schools at Primary Level

Information & Communication Technologies or ICT is an inseparable part of life in today's world. Keeping this in view, SCERT is currently in the process of developing ICT Guidelines for primary level in schools.

It has been observed that whereas NCERT has developed the curriculum for classes 6th to 10th, there are no such guidelines or curriculum in ICT available for the Primary Classes. SCERT has therefore taken up this task of developing a curriculum in ICT for the primary school children of Delhi. This curriculum in ICT at the primary stage is being designed with the following objectives in mind:

To help children acquire the initial computing skills.

To integrate the teaching process with ICT.

To familiarize the children with computer hardware and software.

Action Research Conducted

by Dr A.S. Bisht
Dy. Education Officer, Zone 23

Topic:

“Learning how to learn from the learners through Teaching at Secondary level - An interactive mathematics integrated approach”

Background:

It was third period in Class X B on 12/09/2008 when I was on my routine supervision round of various class rooms as Head of School at Govt. Boy Sr. Sec. School No.4, Sarojni Nagar, New Delhi and suddenly entered the said class room wherefrom noise of the students was coming at the moment.

1. Preliminary Enquiry made on entering the Classroom:

After having known that that the concerned mathematics teacher was on leave on the day, I straight came to one of the topics of Mathematics that has already been taught by the subject teacher, to his Xth class students some two months back. On further enquiry, it was found that most of the students were satisfied with the subject teacher in terms of teaching – learning methodology, adopted by him during the period. It was my turn now as how to test their basic knowledge, in order to assess the level of understanding and conceptual clarity of the specified topic already taught to them by the concerned subject teacher. Instead of asking the students to solve the questions, based on the exercise, under consideration, as we do traditionally, I rather wrote down a very simple and short question on the Black Board “How will you define “Arithmetic Progression (A.P) ?” About two-third students of the class raised their hands immediately with great enthusiasm.

2. Responses given by the Students:

As every class is a composition of variety of students in terms of their entry behavior, level of knowledge, I.Q. level, Aptitude and interest in the subject, so variety of responses were accordingly received from them during the allotted period of 40 minutes duration.

Eight different responses actually received from different students on the day were as follows:

- Sir 3,6,9,12 is an A.P.
- A.P. is that series, wherein common difference is same.

- ‘d’ (Common difference) is not negative in A.P.
- A.P. Cannot be negative.
- ‘d’ (Common difference) Cannot ever take \sim Value.
- A.P. May Contain (+) ive, Zero and (-) values/ numbers.
- A.P. does not contain irrational numbers.
- In A.P. The difference between any two numbers is always same.

All the above illustrated responses were written on the left half portion of the Black Board instantly, in the manner and sequence as received, to let others know what exactly their classmates have elicited. The responses were marked as R1, R2, R3, R4, RS, R6, R7, and R8 respectively. The responses so obtained were categorized under four Heads.

- Partially Correct
- Totally incorrect
- Directly related with the Topic

3. Response given by the HOS:

Boys, I have come to know that you all have really gone through the topic in the prescribed Chapter and might have solved many questions based on A.P., from your text book but none of the response given, is exactly correct so far as the definition of A.P is concerned.

I continued to say that some of responses were no doubt, very close to the exact answer and others were either directly/indirectly related with the topic or totally incorrect but there was not a single most response which could be termed as perfectly correct.

4. Methodology used to analyse the responses:

There was complete silence in the class room coupled with the burning desire to know the correct answer as reflected on the faces of the learners. It was decided to analyse every response one by one before giving the final correct answer in order to generate interest among all the learners involved in the process. As every one was curious to know the correct answer, it was thought better to analyse and link the responses to the 'Core answer' with special positive remark for very participant simultaneously. This approach multiplied their curiosity level, on the topic under consideration very sharply. For this, the whole area of the Black board was divided into five segments with the help of chalk in the format given below;

Indirectly related with the topic.

Type of Response Marked As R1, R2....

Partially Correct response (PCR) Yes or No

Indirectly / Directly related responses (IIR/DRR) Yes or No

Totally incorrect responses (TIR) Yes or No

Reasons there of (on analysis) Against Each response

5. Correct Response given:

After analysing the available responses received from the learners and pointing out the areas of deficiency with clear reasons, it was the most appropriate time to provide the correct definition to be constructed on the basis of identification & proper selection of relevant part of the partially correct responses, so obtained through classroom interaction. The A.P. was defined as :

"That series of real numbers wherein the difference between any two successive numbers of a series is same or common in every case". More specifically as:

A sequence is called an arithmetic progression if the difference of a term and the previous term is always same"

6. Reaction of students:

The students were found highly satisfied once they came to know about the minor mistakes committed by them in an attempt to give the correct answer given simultaneously by the teacher on the spot. The motivation level of students increased sharply especially because final correct answer was carved out of their own responses itself. This approach subsequently ignited the process of healthy interaction among the students even after the school hours.

7. Utilization of existing resources:

The said class consisted of variety of students in terms of knowledge, skill and understanding at different level. Though none of the response received was perfectly correct, yet every response was treated as 'raw material', required to be worked upon by the evaluator. Instead of negating the available response, whether it is partially correct or totally incorrect, it has to be used as an, "Educational tool". The very basic thing to be kept in mind was to focus on the elements of "Positive Zone" of the learner and not on that of "Negative Zone" because of the fact that various factors may be responsible for the accumulation of those unwanted elements, which may not be under the direct control of learner over the years of his learning. The very approach of evaluator to test his student only on the basis of elements of positive Zone Cannot be termed as justified.

As every child is endowed with some kind of talent, hence he or she cannot be declared pass or fail on the basis of pre conceived parameters of evaluation existing in the examination system.

8. Conclusions of the study

- The students/learners may solve most of the questions based on their text book after being taught with traditional method of teaching and learning, yet they lack conceptual clarity of the topics.
- The existing method of evaluation may fetch them very good score in the examination but their performance in the applied field may not be upto the required level.
- Every response as received from the learner whether right or wrong may prove to be highly valuable in future if carefully refined after proper recording.
- Every response given by the student should be treated as raw material and proper techniques has to be devised by the experts subsequently to extract probable outcomes which mayor may not be of direct importance at that period of time.
- The variety of responses available as a result of tactful instructional design not only prepare the only prepare the base for final desired answer but also ensure integrated approach of learning among the peer groups.

DIETs and Their Activities

DIET, Dilshad Garden

1. Computer Literacy Centre

District level Computer Literacy centre was developed at DIET, Dilshad Garden with the help of American India Foundation. Many training programs were launched creating 30 cluster level computer centres. This included:

- Induction of e-component in classroom teaching.
- Orienting teachers and principals of DoE in using information technology in their daily office transaction.

The knowledge of e-components was disseminated among the trainees to enable them to use it in their School Experience Program (SEP).

DIET, Karkardooma

1. Programmes organised by Pre Service Teacher Education (2012-13)

Various programmes were organised by Pre Service Teacher Education. These were- Lifeskill Education, RTI, RTE and School Record Management, Theatre in Education, Micro-teaching, Action Research, Gender sensitization, Inclusive education, Disaster Awareness and Protection etc. Through these training programmes, the Elementary Teacher Education (ETE) trainees were empowered with skills and knowledge for facing challenges in ETE.

2. INSET Training Programme on Educational Planning and Management for MCD principals was organised from 27.11.2012 - 10.12.2012 at DIET, Karkardooma under the coordination of Dr. Rajashree Pradhan (Sr. Lect. (P&M)).

71 principals of MCD schools of district East were trained on different aspects of school organisation and management. The different issues were discussed among the participants and experts and solutions were suggested. Sharing ones' experiences for handling the problem also proved useful.

2. Resource Centre

468 Digital Video Disks and Multimedia were purchased from CIET, NIOS, IGNOU and other organisations. A workshop was conducted with different subject teachers on various topics at elementary level. The Digital Video Disk and Multimedia helped the teachers transact their content in an interesting and meaningful way to the students.

3. Research Projects

A research project 'A study of achievement level of the students in Science Class V (studying in class VI)' was conducted & completed by Dr. Shyam Sundar. It was found that there is a significant difference in achievement level of students on the basis of gender and school administration (MCD & DOE).

The project 'Compendium of Action Research' was undertaken with the objective of giving the ETE trainees an orientation on action research, to acquaint them with the process of conducting action research and preparing report. The trainees were given constant guidance as and when required. As a result the compendium was developed. Due to this, trainees were able to identify topics for action research.

4. Material development / projects

Educational management Information system

Information regarding elementary teacher education was updated in the district East of Delhi, which was beneficial for researchers, programme organisers and administrators for organising different programmes.

Special Initiatives

1. Enrichment and Quality Improvement

Basically, Science is an open ended exploration. At the upper primary stage the children are getting first hand exposure to science. According to NCF 2005, at this stage most concepts should be arrived at from experiments and activities and use of locally available materials. Through this hand book, an attempt was made to encourage students to inquire and design simple experiments; and find plausible explanations, using very low cost materials. It was found that, this hand book was useful for students of upper primary schools, teachers and ETE trainees. During SEP, ETE trainees used the hand book for making teaching learning process more effective and also used these activities for teaching Science at Upper primary stage. The SEP schools enjoyed these experiments as they were able to clear their concepts and at the same time it was interesting and joyful for them.

4. Research Project Effectiveness of Structured and Un- Structured Field Trips: An Exploratory Study of Field Trip to National Science Centre

Investigators: Dr.Meena Sehrawat & Dr.M.M.Roy

The present study was a humble attempt by the investigators with the objective to study the effectiveness of structured and unstructured field trips to explore the displays of fun with science at National Science Centre. Effectiveness of structured and unstructured field trip was seen in terms of academic achievement of students. Survey, pre-test and post-test, randomized experimental design were used as methodology for the collection of data, with two types of samples. Only twenty exhibits were selected purposively from the 87 other exhibits of fun with science at National Science Centre. These twenty exhibits were based on activities which are present in the NCERT science text books of sixth to eighth class. Pre-test and post-test achievement test developed by the investigators were based on the displays. Post test achievement was used as structured activity sheet with the names of the displays followed by the number of questions.

As per the findings, null hypothesis was rejected showing that structured field trip significantly enhances academic achievement of students. Investigators suggested a Field Trip Planning Model including – pre-trip, while trip and post-trip.

Sub: Introduction of Open Text Based Assessment (OTBA) for class IX & XI in Summative Assessment/Annual Examination w.e.f. Academic Session 2013-14

- This is to bring to the notice of all the Heads of Govt. and Govt. Aided Schools that CBSE is going to conduct Open Text Based Assessment for class IX & XI in Summative Assessment-II/Annual Examination with effect from academic session 2013-14. The salient features of this assessment are as following:
- It will be a part of Summative Assessment-II/Annual Examination and shall be conducted in March, 2014 alongwith the examination of other subjects.
- It will be to the extent of 15-20% in all the main subjects for class IX and in Economics, Biology and Geography only for class XI.
- OTBA does not mean that the student will be allowed to carry Text Books and take their help for attempting the Question Papers. As a matter of fact, in December, 2013 CBSE will provide to all the schools Textual Material, related to chosen concepts from the syllabi, in any of the following forms:
 - i) an article,
 - ii) a case study,
 - iii) a diagram,
 - iv) a concept/mind map,
 - v) a picture or a cartoon,
 - vi) problem/situation based on concepts taught to students of

Class IX in the Second Term and to the students of Class XI in the First as well as the Second Term.

- The students are not supposed to carry this material in the examination hall. CBSE will provide fresh printed copy of this material to the students in the examination hall, for reference and answering the questions.
- The Open Text Based Assessment Questions will involve higher order thinking skills, some of which may be subjective, creative and open ended. It may also contain Value Based Questions.

- The assessment of answers will be done on a set of rubrics designed to test student's:
 - i) Understanding and application of the concepts to situational problems.
 - ii) Ability to suggest and find out solution/s to the problem/situation.
 - iii) Innovative opinions / suggestions
 - iv) Analytical ability based on wide range of perspectives.
- The concerned subject teachers have to play a significant role in preparing the students for Open Text Based Assessment. They have to ensure that the textual material received from CBSE is supplied to the students in groups and all the students actively participate in active learning process through reading, discussion, self reflection and critical analysis of the issues involved therein. They must also be prepared for innovative and open answers from students. It is their utmost duty to guide the students and provide them feedback at regular intervals. Subject teachers, thus, will have to play the role of a facilitator.

All the Heads of Schools are hereby further directed to disseminate this information to all the concerned teachers and students of their school.

Circular No: Acad-39/2013

All the Heads of Institutions affiliated to CBSE.

Subject: Introduction of Open Text-based Assessment in the Summative Assessment II of Class IX and in the Annual Examination of Class XI, March, 2014

Dear Principal,

The Central Board of Secondary Education recommends that multiple modes of assessment need to be provided to cater to the varied abilities of individual strengths of learners. It is, therefore, decided to introduce an element of Open Text- based Assessment for classes IX and XI in March, 2014 Examination. These are meant to incorporate analytical and theoretical skills, thus moving away from memorization.

Open Text based Assessment (OTBA) for Class IX in March, 2014

- It will be applicable to all the main subjects.
- This will be a part of Summative Assessment II to be held in March, 2014.
- These Schools will be supplied with textual material in few months before the commencement of Summative Assessment II.
- A textual material may be in the form of an article, a case study, a diagram, a concept/ mind map, a picture or a cartoon, problem/situation based on the concepts taught to be students during second term.
- It will be to the extent of 15-20 percent in all the main subjects and may also include the Value Based Questions
- The textual material will be related to chosen concepts taken from the syllabi
- The Open Text based Assessment (OTBA) will have questions of higher order thinking skills and some of which may be subjective, creative and open ended.
- The textual material supplied earlier will be printed again as part of the question paper and thus will be available while answering the questions.

Open Text based Assessment (OTBA) for Class XI in March, 2014

It will be applicable to Economics, Biology and Geography only

- This will be a part of Annual Examination to be held in March, 2014.

- These schools will be supplied with textual material in the form of an article, a case study, a diagram, a concept/mind map, a picture or a cartoon, problem/situation based on the concepts taught to the students during the session.
- It will be to the extent of 15-20 percent in the subjects of Economics, Geography and Biology and may also include the Value Based Questions.
- The textual material will be related to chosen concepts taken from the syllabi.
- The Open Text based Assessment (OTBA) will have questions of higher order thinking skills and some of which may be subjective, creative and open ended.
- The textual material supplied earlier will be printed again as part of the question paper and thus will be available while answering the questions.

Role of Teachers

- Teachers are expected to provide a bridge between the theory and practice. The Text/Case studies are designed to promote active participation of students requiring them to engage in active learning process through discussion, analysis, self-reflection and critical thinking.
- The teachers are expected to assign the text material received from the CBSE to the students in groups so that they can read, and understand it through discussions, view it from different perspectives, brainstorm main ideas in class or even do further research outside the class. The main objective of introducing this element is to provide opportunities to students to apply theoretical concepts to a real life scenario by encouraging active and group learning in the Class.
- The teachers should guide students and provide feedback at regular intervals about their performance during the completion of assigned activities. Since real-life cases or situations are complex and open to different opinions, teachers must be prepared for innovative and open answers from students.

Assessment of Text Material/Case-Studies

Depending on the text material/case study supplied to students, the answers will be assessed on a set of assessment rubrics showing the extent of which students were able to do the following:

- Understand and apply the concepts to the situational problems.
- Suggest and bring out appropriate solutions/s to the problem/situation.
- Come up with innovative opinions/suggestions.
- Deep analysis based on a wide range of perspectives

What are schools expected to do?

- The text/case-studies/supplied to schools should be thoroughly read, discussed and analysed by the teachers. If possible, the teachers of Sahodaya Complex can get together for a brainstorming session working on the following:
 - Objectives of the Text material/Case-study
 - Concepts involved
 - Application of concepts to situation
 - Description and further explanation of the case/problem
 - Higher Order thinking skills involved
 - Analysis with different perspectives
 - Assessment techniques

- The case studies with leading questions should then be assigned to students in groups who would discuss at their level.
- The teachers should guide them with further leading questions.

The text material/ case-studies for both the Classes IX and XI will be supplied to schools in December, 2013. It is hoped that both teachers and students will jointly enjoy this journey of exploring the higher levels of learning. The Board also looks forward to suggestions on effective implementation of the Open Text based Assessment.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

(VINEET JOSHI)
